

Miami Maritime Passenger Boarding Bridge and Fix Tunnel up for Auction on GovDeals.com

May 27, 2020

MIAMI, May 27, 2020 (GLOBE NEWSWIRE) -- Miami-Dade County, FL is selling a massive maritime passenger boarding bridge on GovDeals.com, an online government surplus auction site. Miami-Dade County, FL is a long-standing seller on GovDeals for a range of transportation, heavy equipment, and other surplus property items.

Built in 2010, this passenger bridge is manufactured by Adelte Seaport, a leading international engineering company that provides equipment and services to cruise and ferry terminals. The Maritime Passenger Bridge is most often used to transport passengers to and from land, onto large cruise or ferry ships. Adelte manufactures bridges that are innovative, made to order, supreme-quality engineering solutions, that utilize all the latest technologies to ensure the highest quality. The passenger bridge is currently housed at the Port of Miami within the county's designated Cruise Terminal.

The sale of Passenger Bridge and accompanying tunnel is a unique opportunity for any municipality that might be looking to upgrade, add, or cultivate cruise or ferry services in their area. The winning bidder will be required to obtain the necessary insurance prior to removing the structure after winning the auction and paying for the item. Interested bidders can make an appointment to view the structure prior to making any bids. In order to place a bid on the assets, bidders are required to complete the registration process which is fast, easy and free. This Bridge will be on auction until May 29, 2020 and currently has a minimum starting bid.
